THE THREE LEGS

Rabbi Geri Newburge gnewburge@mlrt.org Lynne Balaban lbalaban@mlrt.org Mary Kamplain president@mlrt.org

In any thriving congregation, the strength of the community rests on many individuals - and the diverse interests at play are frequently represented by the Board President, Executive Director, and the Rabbi. These three positions form what many have come to call the “three-legged stool” of synagogue leadership. Like the legs of a stool, each one is essential to creating support and balance. Remove one, and the entire structure becomes unstable.

Each leader brings unique perspectives, skill sets, and responsibilities, and together they ensure that the congregation runs smoothly, remains rooted in tradition, and continues to grow in purpose and spirit.

In Jewish tradition, leadership is rarely solitary. From Moses, Aaron and Miriam to the Men of the Great Assembly, we have long understood that leadership must be shared, accountable, and collaborative. The three-legged stool of synagogue leadership honors this ancient wisdom while responding to the modern demands of congregational life.

As a volunteer, the President leading the Board of Trustees, represents the interests and needs of the congregation. Our new President, Mary Kamplain, often navigates the space between professional staff and members, helping to articulate long-term vision while also ensuring accountability. From chairing board meetings to building consensus among committees, the President is both diplomat and doer, setting the tone for lay leaders' involvement and partnership.

Beyond structure and policy, the President models dedication and involvement. The time, energy, and passion given to the congregation are gifts that ripple through every part of synagogue life, from High Holy Day logistics to moments of pastoral care.

The Executive Director brings purpose and power to the three-legged stool. Undoubtedly, Lynne Balaban works with a dedicated team to ensure that the day-to-day operations of the congregation run smoothly - finances, facilities, human resources, security, scheduling, technology, and (much!) more. It is Lynne who keeps the behind-the-scenes machinery working so that sacred moments, community gatherings, and lifecycle events can unfold without distraction.

Equally important, the Executive Director is often the steady hand in times of crisis or transition, helping the congregation weather challenges and look to the future with calm and competence. While this role is often the least visible, its impact is enormous.

The Rabbi represents our clergy and together, they serve as the community's teachers, pastors, and spiritual guides. In times of joy and sorrow, Rabbi Newburge, in partnership with Rabbi Mollo, Cantor Rudnick, and Rabbi Kleinman, help individuals and families find meaning and connection. In times of challenge, the clergy give voice to Jewish values, ethics, and resilience.

The Rabbi is often the most publicly recognized face of the synagogue, but the work is deeply relational, collaborative, and communal. No rabbi leads alone—nor should they.

The synergy with the clergy team, lay leadership, and operational partners enables the rabbi's role to flourish.

The three-legged stool is not foolproof, but it works best when we recognize and appreciate the essential roles, contributions, and support that we each bring to the endeavor. Your MLRT stool meets, emails, texts, and collaborates regularly, and your outreach to any one of us frequently requires us to come together to listen, to brainstorm, to problem-solve, and to be responsive. We aspire to support MLRT but we are so fortunate to be able to sustain each other as well.

We feel honored to share in the sacred work of strengthening and building up the Temple, and are excited to welcome in the new year 5786 and its many possibilities.

CREATING A LIFE OF MEANING

Rabbi Eric Mollo emollo@mlrt.org

The ten days between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, the Yamim Noraim (The Days of Awe), are like our annual tune-up for the mind, body, and spirit as we seek to realign the way we live our lives with our most sacred Jewish ideals. Not being ones to linger in solemnity, just four days after Yom Kippur, we celebrate Sukkot to remind ourselves that joy and gratitude, even in unsettled physical and mental spaces, are crucial to a life of meaning. The High Holy Days are not only set moments for prayer, but opportunities to add greater purpose to our lives through learning and action. As we embark on the New Year of 5786, I invite you to take part in the many lifelong learning, social action, and social justice opportunities coming this fall. They will expand your mind, strengthen your heart, feed your soul, and lift up your community.

TRAILBLAZERS AND MUSIC MAKERS

Cantor Faryn Rudnick frudnick@mlrt.org

It has officially been 50 years since the inclusion of women in the Cantorate. In 1970, a young but strong future cantor, Barbara Ostfeld, entered the School of Sacred Music at HUC-JIR, where she faced challenge after challenge as the only female in the Cantorial program. During her five years of study, leading to her historic and ground-breaking ordination in 1975, Ostfeld was ostracized, told not to sing – not because of her voice, which is gorgeous, but because a women's voice had no place among the men's – faced sexism, institutional discomfort, and inequality as the lone female in the centuries' long male-dominated field.

Barbara Ostfeld's historic ordination in 1975 as America's first female cantor.

She survived, and went on to have an illustrious career, pave the path for myself and my classmates, and inspire countless generations of both female and male future cantors.

If we charted the trends of those enrolling in Cantorial School at Hebrew Union College beginning in 1970, we would find incredible peaks of the number of females enrolling and being ordained. Since Cantor Ostfeld's ordination in 1975, the majority of Cantorial classes at HUC-JIR have been female dominated.

Throughout 2025, the American Conference of Cantors has celebrated this incredible milestone. There has been a publication of music from prolific female composers, a concert that celebrated the first generation of female Cantors, and finally, a publication from UCLA's Stories of Music specifically celebrating 50 years of women in the Cantorate and the impact of females on the Cantorate. I have had the great privilege of working with the team at UCLA for the past year as we worked on this publication. And I promise we will use this as an adult education program – it's too good to not utilize.

So why is this milestone so important? It might be easy for us at MLRT to take for granted the hard work that went into females having a place at the proverbial table. We here are blessed to have strong and competent females in leadership and we don't question it. But 50 years ago, 40 years ago, 30 years ago, and even in recent history, people have questioned it. We as a Jewish community need to celebrate the trailblazers that have impacted our community, those who have quietly pushed the goal post a little farther to make room for all those who have been marginalized.

A STORY OF SURVIVAL

The unforgettable story of Rachel Zelmanowicz-Olewski time in Auschwitz, presented by MLRT, Adath Israel, and Or Zarua

RACHEL'S MANDOLIN

As a young woman, Rachel played the mandolin in the Auschwitz women's orchestra under the famous violinist and conductor Alma Rose. Rachel's story is of a heroic survival in Auschwitz through the power of her mandolin music. She was liberated in Bergen-Belsen and later raised a family in Israel until she passed away in 1987. This concert is about her personally and about the untold story of the mandolin during the Holocaust.

Rachel's Mandolin will be played by Duo Mantar: two virtuosos, American classical guitarist, Adam Levin, and Israeli Mandolinist, Jacob Reuven.

HIGH HOLY DAYS 5786

As we begin the Jewish New Year 5786, we cannot ignore the unprecedented year we just experienced and witnessed. The challenges the Jewish world faced (and still faces) are unlike anything we have known. Now, gathering as a community, we pause to reflect on these communal challenges as well as our personal conduct and struggles to focus on what lies ahead, our hopes and determination for a better future for ourselves and all humankind.

One of the new security measures we have put in place this year is to ask each of our attendees to wear name tags while at High Holy Day services. These name tags will serve as your High Holy Day tickets.

The wearing of name tags ensures that our security team is able to easily identify who should be in the building at all times. It also enables us to create a more welcoming environment by being able to address each other personally by name. At a time when the world can seem unsettled, wearing a name tag may allow us to connect with each other in a more meaningful way.

These name tags will be available for pickup during business hours in the MLRT office between September 8 and September 19. If you are unable to pick them up during those two weeks, we will have them available at will call immediately before services begin on September 22, September 23, October 1, and October 2.

The High Holy Days offer us the opportunity to consider the sacredness of our traditions and our purpose in the world. As we come together to consecrate the new year, continuing the heritage and values established by our ancestors, the High Holy Days remind us to reach a little deeper in the new year as we gather for comfort, inspiration and fellowship found with friends and community.

May the sounds of the shofar, the prayers of our hearts, and the wisdom of tradition lift our hearts and minds in 5786. May you and your loved ones be inscribed for a year of good health, friendship, and love.

All services will be streamed live online except for Tashlich. Study Sessions will be on Zoom at their scheduled times and available to watch after the holiday. Service passwords will be emailed to members prior to Erev Rosh Hashanah.

NAME TAGS ARE REQUIRED FOR ALL SERVICES, EXCEPT SELICHOT AND TASHLICH.

Email Lynne Balaban, Executive Director, at lbalaban@mlrt.org with any security questions or concerns.

All services will be led by our clergy team and Dr. Ari Sussman, with the addition of Ross M. Levy & The Levites for the Contemporary & Family Services and Mihaela Schwartz for the Family Services

This fall, MLRT is piloting an exciting new four-part series from 18Doors and the Anti-Defamation League, created especially for interfaith couples!

Over four Sunday mornings, September 14, September 21, October 5, and October 12, you'll join other couples in a warm, welcoming space to explore what antisemitism is, how it intersects with conversations about Israel, and how to support each other when antisemitism arises.

The sessions will be a mix of small group conversation, storytelling, and practical tools you can use in your everyday life. The program meets during Religious School hours, and space is limited to ensure meaningful dialogue.

ART WITHIN A PURPOSE

Mihaela Schwartz mschwartz@mlrt.org

I have been following the ongoing discussion threads with great interest, where educators from various backgrounds and experiences passionately debate the differences between arts and crafts, particularly which should be emphasized for young children in the classroom. Many of my colleagues have expressed strong opinions in favor of including crafting activities. They argue that "Crafts provide an opportunity for all children to create equally," "Crafts help teach and practice fine motor skills," and "Families appreciate receiving special crafts during holidays like Christmas and Mother's Day."

It's essential to clarify the distinction between a craft and an art activity. A craft is typically a structured activity that follows a specific formula or recipe, resulting in a similar outcome for all participants. On the other hand, an art activity is more open-ended and allows for individual expression.

IT'S ABOUT THE PROCESS, NOT THE PRODUCT. IT'S ABOUT THE JOURNEY OF CREATION, NOT THE DESTINATION OF A FINISHED PIECE.

This distinction is crucial in understanding the value of open-ended art activities in early childhood education.

As I heard these supportive statements regarding the use of crafts in early years programs, I found myself on a mission to change the course of art activities and their purposes at MLRT ECE. For a few years, that mission felt too far from reality. But this year, that moment arrived and was made possible with the help of the MLRT Board of Trustees, colleagues, clergy, and admins, who understand the role of creating a niche for MLRT ECE aligned with meaningful art. This exciting shift, which we all eagerly anticipate, will take place in the brand-new art room. This space symbolizes the future of art education at MLRT ECE and is a testament to our collective efforts. I am grateful for your support and look forward to our continued collaboration in this transformative journey.

As a progressive early childhood educator, I have always encouraged my students to use the materials available in our classroom arts centers—such as music, drama, and visual arts—in ways that are uniquely their own. We rarely concentrate on the shape or form of the final product; instead, we celebrate the experiences of exploring and creating with the appropriate tools and materials. While we welcome appreciation from an audience for our classroom activities, our primary goal is to empower each child and nurture their individuality.

SISTERHOOD

Amy Silverman sisterhood@mlrt.org

I am Amy Silverman and I have the privilege of serving as the new president of our Main Line Reform Temple Sisterhood. I would like to take this opportunity to thank my predecessor, Sue Rubin Plick, for her wonderful leadership and I would like to thank all the members of our board, those who have recently stepped off, those remaining and those who are new.

I believe we have an exceptional group of women in our Sisterhood and I am so looking forward to working with them and sharing in our many varied and enjoyable activities throughout this upcoming year. I would like to encourage you to make this the year to get involved with Sisterhood. There are activities for everyone.

We have opportunities to provide service to area non-profits, to help with our fundraisers for MLRT like our Shalach Manot and Bargain Boutique and to help with our annual staff lunch.

We have arts & crafts pop ups, exercise pop ups, luncheon get togethers at area restaurants, occasional Broadway trips, an engaging annual book review luncheon with the author, interesting speakers and an annual Sisterhood Shabbat.

We have opportunities to join in with our umbrella organization, WRJ, both regionally and nationally.

We have our always fun and entertaining opening, paid up membership and closing events. Speaking of opening events, this year's event is on October 16 at 6:30 pm and the theme is, "Back to Your Bat Mitzvah". Please join us. I look forward to meeting and greeting those who are old and new to Sisterhood and those who are curious about Sisterhood.

To my fellow sisters and to the Main Line Reform Temple community at large, L'Shana Tova Tikatevu.

TWO PIECES OF GOOD NEWS TO REPORT FROM ISRAEL

Jacqueline Shulman
jjshul@gmail.com

1. Two former Israeli hostages, Sapir Cohen and Alexander (Sasha) Tourfarsov just got engaged. On October 7, 2023, Sapir was visiting her boyfriend, Sasha during the Simchat Torah holiday at their home in Kibbutz Nir Oz. Sasha had lived at the kibbutz since he was a child with his mother, Lena, his father Vitaly and his grandmother Irena Tati. On October 7, Sasha, Lena, Irena and Sapir were captured by Hamas and Palestinian Islamic Jihad and taken to Gaza. Sadly, Vitaly was murdered that day. Sapir, Lena and Irena were held hostage for 55 days before being released as part of the first hostage deal in late November, 2023. Sasha was held for 16 months before being returned as part of the March, 2025 hostage deal. In the beginning of July, the couple who were reunited against all odds, became engaged. It happened by the ocean in California while they were touring the United States and telling the story of their survival. A hearty mazal tov to Sapir and Sasha on their wonderful news!

2. For everyone considering travel to Israel, last fall, Air Haifa became Israel's first new commercial airline in thirty years. It is also the first airline based in Northern Israel, although it couldn't operate out of Haifa initially due to the conflict with Lebanon. Rather than miss the winter holiday travel season, Air Haifa began its flights in and out of Israel's main airport, Ben-Gurion near Tel Aviv until the January, 2025 ceasefire enabled the reopening of Haifa's airport. Today, Air Haifa is a low cost carrier that offers one-way fares and flies its three twin-engine turboprops from Haifa to Athens, Eilat and two Cypriot cities (Lanarca and Paphus), all popular tourist spots for Israelis. It hopes to add a fourth aircraft to its fleet this summer. Yasher Koach to the folks at Air Haifa for finding a way to make good things happen during a very challenging time.

BROTHERHOOD

David Krupnick brotherhood@mlrt.org

I am very proud to once again author the MLRT Brotherhood Bulletin submission, as we begin the new season of 5786. The High Holy Days have always evoked a spirit of renewal in myself and family. I have fond childhood memories of walking to shul with my brothers and parents. It was great to reconnect with friends in Junior Congregation in the synagogue's lower level, while the grown-ups prayed in the sanctuary upstairs. I vividly recall leaving Yom Kippur services in the early afternoon of October 6, 1973. Israel was attacked by Egypt and Syria on its holiest day, on what would become known as the Yom Kippur War. Over 2,600 Israeli soldiers died over the approximately three-week war.

The congregants lingered around the building and sanctuary. Many families, like mine, had close relatives in Israel. The Rabbi shared what limited information he had. We were all in a state of shock and disbelief. Over the next few days, we returned to the synagogue. Community leaders gave impassioned speeches asking for financial and moral support. Though it took a tragic attack for it to happen, it was the first time I felt real sense of community and belonging. To this day, I still find that feeling as relevant as ever.

I thought of those events in reflecting on today's uncertain times. Having a sense of community, whatever it may mean to you, seems even more important than ever. Please consider active participation in Brotherhood or other MLRT groups as part of your community and belonging. We are also open to exploring new experiences and ideas as an organization and seek your valuable input.

Over the summer, Brotherhood once again sold pizza and drinks at the annual Narberth July 4 Celebration, with proceeds being donated to charity. A special thanks to Brotherhood's Gerry Robbins, Mark Komen, Glenn Brooks and Michael Scheinfeld for running the pizza concession throughout the hot day.

Upcoming events include a Men's Night Out Dinner (MNO) and Meeting on Monday, September 8 at 6:00 pm at Sang Kee in Wynnewood, followed by a Texas Hold Em card night at MLRT at 6:30 pm on Thursday, September 18. Please join us on Sunday, October 5 at 9:00 am, as we erect the MLRT Sukkah (lox and bagel breakfast included), followed by the always delicious Steaks in the Sukkah dinner at 6:30 pm on Wednesday, October 8. We'll take down the Sukkah at 9:00 am on Sunday, October 19 (lox and bagel breakfast included) and have another Men's Night Out at 6:00 pm on Thursday, November 13 at Gulifty's Restaurant in Rosemont.

Our final event of 2025 will be a Texas Hold Em card night at MLRT at 6:30 pm on Monday, December 8. In addition, the previously postponed Annual Brotherhood Charity Golf Outing is tentatively scheduled for June, 2026 at a local country club.

Wishing you all a Chag Sameach and G'Mar Chatima Tova (a good final sealing in the Book of Life) and Joyous 5786!

MLRT Sisterhood invites you to travel

Our Opening Event will take place on Thursday,

SUMMER PROJECTS UPDATE AT MLRT

As summer begins to wind down, we're excited to share the progress being made on several important projects around MLRT. These updates will not only refresh our spaces but also enhance the ways our community can gather, learn, and connect.

ALC1

The work in ALC1 is now complete! The bookcases once located in the library have been carefully reinstalled where the closets and display cases used to be. LED lights have been installed in the ceiling replacing the older, dim fluorescent lights. The walls are now painted in a soft light gray with crisp trim, window sills, and bookcases in a complementary off-white shade. The result is a bright, clean, and welcoming space ready for meetings, education events, and so much more.

LIBRARY CONVERSION

One of the largest projects has been the transformation of the library into two new classrooms. Considerable progress has been made: walls painted, drop ceilings installed, fire sprinklers adjusted, and brand-new lighting fixtures put in place. Before school begins, final touches will be completed—including new tile flooring, cove base, cabinets, a sink, and window blinds. We look forward to using these new classrooms during the new school year ahead.

HAUSEN & ALCOVE

Both the Hausen and the adjoining Alcove have also received a fresh coat of paint, creating a consistent and refreshed look. In addition, new lighting fixtures have arrived—six pendant lights, eight flush mounts, and three wall sconces. Installation includes new dimmer switches to set just the right mood for all types of gatherings.

THE BIMAH, CLASSROOM FLOORS, AND DOORS OH MY!

The bimah hardwood floors, as well as all the classroom tile floors, have all been waxed and polished.

Several new exterior doors in the preschool wing have been replaced.

Closets and storage areas have been cleaned and organized, and after donating what we could to other causes, a large dumpster was filled with items that were no longer usable or in good working order. New LED lights were installed in the hallway outside the office and ALC 1.

It is clear to see from all of these projects, that it is never quiet in the summertime at MLRT.
